

Falling Stars

Ten stars have fallen and are hiding in the grid below. You must find the locations of these stars. A number tells you how many stars are located next to that cell, either horizontally or diagonally. No square with a number in it also contains a star, but a star may appear in a square with no adjacent numbers. Can you find all ten stars?

		3				1
				2
	1
			2
	4				1
			0
		1		1

From Winston Breen's Puzzle Blog, © 2008 by Eric Berlin
<http://www.winstonbreen.com>