PUZZLE PARTY!

Treasure Hunt

I always like to set up a through-the-house treasure hunt for my guests. I've laid out six "treasure chests," with a puzzle in each one. For each chest, you can start on a letter and move from space to space (up, down, left, right, or diagonally) to trace out the name of a treasure it holds—gems, precious stones, and/or precious metals. (I'll tell you how many items are in each chest, and how many letters in each item.) You can't hop over letters, nor can you stand on a letter to repeat it. Letters may be used more than once, even within a single word.

One letter in each chest is unused. These letters, following a path that begins in the kitchen and ends in Katie's bedroom, will spell out your answer.
